SEAFOOD

CONCH

Pronounced "konk" from the Greek meaning shell. A conch is a marine mollusk with a famous spiraled shell and edible flesh. Second in popularity only to escargot. Conch is protected in the Florida Keys.

MAHI-MAHI

Pronounced: MAH-hee MAH-hee. It is also called the dolphin fish, but it should not be confused with the mammal dolphin. The Hawaiians renamed this fish Mahi-Mahi. It is typically found in tropical and subtropical waters. White, firm, and mild in taste.

HOGFISH

It is characterized by a large, laterally compressed body shape. It possesses a very elongated snout, which it uses to search for crustaceans buried in the sediment. This very long "pig-like" snout and its rooting behavior give the hogfish its name. This white, flakey, fish is considered a delicacy.

SNAPPER

It is an abundant species of snapper native to the western Atlantic Ocean, including the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean. This species is mostly found around coral reefs. It is white, flaky, and light in taste.
